

Your Questions Deserve Answers

Unions and their supporters can make a lot of promises when they are trying to get your support. Before signing anything from the union, there are some important questions you should consider asking, including:

Will the union guarantee, in writing, that I will get more money and better benefits?

How much would the union charge members in dues and fees?

Will the union guarantee, in writing, that it will fix staffing?

If I sign a union card but change my mind, will the union give it back?

If I'm in a union, will the union take me on strike? Will I get paid during a strike?

Will the union show me how they actually spend member's dues money?
